

Dear FCC,

Please use your powers to stop the Sinclair Broadcast Group from airing the biased program "Stolen Honor" without balancing it with an equally biased program such as "Going Upriver." Both "biased" programs should be aired at equal TV times (e.g., both primetime on heavily watched nights), preferably, one after the other. More importantly, both should be aired with equal time before the election, as these biased programs may be influential in the election process. If the FCC does not insist on equal programming for both programs, then neither should be aired. The Sinclair group's plan is in clear violation of federal election law and the FCC must take pre-emptive action. If the FCC does not take pre-emptive action and chooses only to punish the Sinclair group after the facts, it will be a clear message to those of us aware that the FCC is not serving the public interests. Please take action today. I would like to know the FCC's stance on this situation and what actions are planned.

Thank you for a reply,
Melanie Pearson
